War Desolations

THE HOMES OF GERMANY—WIDOWS AND ORPHANS —WINTER AT THE DOOR—THE DEAD AND THE LIVING—DEMOCRACY IN THE FUTURE—48 AND ITS POPULAR TRIUMPHS—REPUBLICANISM SOUTH—THEN AND NOW

[Correspondence N. Y. Herald]

STUTTGART Nov 1 1870

Subjoined is a statement taken from a German paper which tends to convey an idea of the fearful ravages and of the misery and suffering which the continuance of the war inflicts on the German people It is stated that the number of married women, wives and widows of soldiers, receiving relief in the province of Westphalia at the beginning of last month, was 11 817, together with 22 713 children In the province of Hanover 9 421 women, with 26 418 children, had become objects of public charity and in the Rhenish provinces there were destitute 11 312 married women with 29 629 fatherless children This gives a grand total of 32,703 women with 78,760 children in only three Prussian provinces It may fairly be assumed that the suffering is not less in the remaining provinces of Prussia

We have already seen the first snowfall, and there are many indications of an early and severe winter What aggravates the situation is that the price of all kinds of provisions stands considerably above the usual average Add to this the mischief done by rinderpest and the potato rot, and we can easily imagine what the immediate future of these poor women and children will be if deprived much longer of their natural support

SORROW AND CHARITY

I should add that nine tenths of the husbands of these women belong to the Landwehr Many of them were comfortably settled in business before the war broke out on their return if, indeed they will return—they will find their homes broken up and their families dependent on public charity I have had to listen to many a harrowing tale last, not least only a few days since at a railroad depot, where I was detained for several hours owing to an accident on the line A Landwehr battalion, encamped at a neighboring village sent a guard daily to the depot, and by way of improving time, I got into conversation with the men on duty

THE FUTURE

All were what they termed "forty year men" and declared themselves heartily sick and tired of campaigning Hopes were entertained by them that the surrender of Metz would open the possibility of their regiment being sent home at once Poor fellows! They did not know that a winter campaign was in store for them, and that their troubles, amid a hostile population, are only commencing However, I did not feel called upon to damp their spirits The duty of these landwehr regiments is arduous they have little fighting and consequently no glory The home of these men I ascertained to be Barmen, Solingen and Iserlohn, most of them were mechanics and engaged in the manufacture of hardware men illy suited for outdoor work and bivouacks Deprived of all comforts they are kept constantly on the alert, harrassed by Franc tireurs and armed peasantry Without exception these regiments are composed of intelligent, orderly and sober men, but at their time of life military discipline becomes somewhat irksome They are, moreover, not such fools as to believe in military rule and its continuance hereafter, and I am inclined to think that when they come home Count Bismarck will find his hands full to set "the house in order" In fact there is no doubt in my mind that it is easier to talk about the future of a "German Empire," than to provide the means of insuring its integrity

DEMOCRACY

In Prussia proper, and in the Northern provinces, republican ideas may probably find little favor at this moment But it is not so in the Southern States Here if a change of the actual state of things must be effected, it requires a change for the better—not for the worse The Governments of Baden and Wurtemburg it is reported, have given in their adhesion, but the people are entirely indifferent about a union with Prussia, while in Bavaria the people as well as the Government, are directly opposed to Count Bismarck s proposals His well known ability as a manager may possibly succeed in overcoming the scruples of the Bavarian King, but he will find it uphill work The King's scruples are based on the will of the people and a thorough dislike to military rule The popular belief among Bavarians is that they will lose much and gain little by substituting Prussian for Bavarian rule It is singular enough that on the Bavarians nearly always the weight of fighting has fallen in this war At Woerth their losses were heavy at Sedan, according to an official statement, about 5,200 Bavarians have been killed and wounded, and now again we hear of frightful losses of the corps under General Von der Tann, both at Orleans and Dijon

Misery such as I have described above existing in Prussia is found in Bavaria even on a larger scale The latter are less docile and submissive than their Northern brethren, the press breathes a purer atmosphere in Bavaria, public functionaries are less arbitrary than in Prussia, and a host of minor considerations render it difficult to imagine homogeneity The Bavarians know they fought well their losses are heavier in proportion to the small contingent than those of Prussia and they contend that, under the circumstances more consideration should be shown rather than place their king in a position which they hold to be humiliating If ever Bavaria is to be coerced into consenting to Count Bismarck s proposals, you may depend on it the union will neither be happy nor durable The people and the press make no secret of these matters, and in spite of Count Bismarck's declaration, made in the London papers "he did not hold the opinion that the Republican institutions of France constituted a danger to Germany," it will be found the continuance of the war is necessary mainly because the very hot bed of German Republicanism is seated in Rhenish Bavaria In those sections the widest enthusiasm prevails in favor of Republican institutions and the people there maintain that the siege of Paris is directed as much against them as against Frenchmen It appears therefore, tolerably clear that Bavarians will not easily be brought to submission On the contrary, they will hold out to the last In time attempts will be made in Germany to promulgate the Republic so soon as the Bavarian Government should dare to declare in favor of Count Bismarck s proposals for a Confederation under the supremacy of Prussia

THE EVENTS OF 1848

In the Southern States of Germany the events of 1848–49 have not been forgotten and it may be of interest to briefly recapitulate a few of the leading features connected therewith The electric telegraph was but little known in Germany at that period the few existing communications being confined exclusively to the use of the Government It took several days before the events of Paris could reach the Prussian capital On the 25th of February however it was known at Berlin that Louis Philippe had been compelled to take flight and that Paris had declared in favor of a Republic The news spread like wildfire It caused the greatest excitement Meetings were called expressive of sympathy with their French brethren In vain the police endeavored to suppress the popular movement Between the days of the 6th and the 13th of March the city was held in constant commotion, culminating in a street fight Barricades were erected in the principal thoroughfares and although a large military force was deployed throughout Berlin, the citizens succeeded in becoming masters of the situation After a hard fight on the 18th and 19th of March the king was induced to make concessions All the troops garrisoned at Berlin were ordered to leave the city According to an official return the military had to deplore 275 casualties including no less than nineteen officers killed and wounded the loss falling chiefly on regiments of the Guards The present King of Prussia was at that period Crown Prince he was Generalissimo of the forces, and it was at his command that the troops had fired on the citizens He disapproved of the concessions made to the people by the King and the active part which the Prince (i e the present King) had taken in the suppression of the popular movement made it imperative that he should quit Berlin with the troops

The Crown Prince it will be remembered, took refuge in England for several months The temper and spirit in which the military power had been wielded had thoroughly exasperated the German people There existed no freedom of speech anywhere, and the people thought the time had come to assert their rights The movement at Berlin was imitated at every corner of Fatherland The cry of anguish found echo at Breslau, Frankfort-on the Main, Erfurt, Iserlohn, Elbersfeld and elsewhere At all these cities and many others of minor importance we have heard of street fights The province of Posen was in open rebellion, and the troops sent against it had about 500 soldiers and 40 officers hors de combat while the casualties among citizens were reported to exceed 2 000

Count Bismarck has probably good reason to remember these events He held an appointment under the Governor about that period at Aix la Chapelle, and his deportment gave rise to an unpleasant altercation at a clubhouse of that city

THE DEMONSTRATIONS OF 1849

The demonstrations of the republican party were not confined to Prussia In May, 1849 we read of a general rise throughout the little Kingdom of Saxony The fighting in the streets of Dresden was probably more serious than in any other German city A provisional government had been formed and the King of Saxony, unable to move his own forces demanded and obtained succor from Prussia On the 6th of May, 1849, the troops under command of a Prussian General, reinstated the King, who had taken shelter in the neighboring fortress of Koenigstein Dresden was held by martial law, and about 350 of its citizens perished in the struggle Simultaneously with this movement history records the rising in Baden and Rhenish Bavaria The republican party had been able to win over a large portion of the army of the Grand Duke of Baden, and early in the month of June 1849, upward of 40 000 men regulars and volunteers, with sixty or seventy cannon stood ready to fight for the cause of liberty and independence The Prussian soldiery was again the unconscious instrument of putting to death large numbers of citizens Several battles were fought with varying success, at Landau, in Bavaria, at Landenburg and other places in Baden

Finally, the Sons of Liberty took refuge in the fortress of Rastadt, which stronghold they were enabled to retain for four weeks and more The Prussians then brought up siege guns and threatened a bombardment Thus pressed and with a lack of provisions, the gallant little force was compelled to capitulate on July 23, 1849

The surrender blasted for the time all further hopes of those who had labored for the cause of freedom Many, many had to atone for their acts in exile others thrust into exile are expiating what was looked upon by the military leaders as a heinous crime

Time kept rolling on, and the question may be asked What difference is there between the year 1848 and the year 1870? Just this much, that the people of to-day are less inclined than in 1848 to fight for the personal interest of princes or to suit the private ambition of their advisers Count Bismarck will find himself terribly mistaken when he thinks that the soldiers on returning to their miserable homes, will meekly submit again to a yoke of despotic rule

A "Democratic" Senator

Ex Gov Vance of North Carolina has been elected to the United States Senate At Washington they are hunting up his record, with what result the following dispatch (Dec 2) to a New York paper indicates The search, it will be seen, is peculiarly rich in developments

Among the Senators and Representatives who are in town, and who were at the Capitol to day, the election of ex Gov Vance to the Senate, and his chances of admission, were the most prominent topics of conversation The general feeling among several of the Senators seems to be that if Mr Vance is admitted, Congress should at once adopt the principle of universal amnesty and not refuse to admit any one, even Jeff Davis, on account of his record during the rebellion Alex H Stephens has, since the war, been chosen to a seat in the United States Senate and was rejected by that body It is thought that if Mr Vance should be admitted, Mr Stephens friends would have just cause of complaint A good deal of surprise is also expressed at the tone of Mr Vance s speech the other evening, and there has been a general overhauling of documents and newspaper files to prove that he was not always a Union man as he claims to have been Among the things which have been unearthed to day is Gov Vance s well remembered speech, made to a regiment of Confederate soldiers in the war, in which he used the words, "Boys fight till h—l freezes over, and then fight on the ice Fight until you fill h—l so full of Yankees that their feet stick out of the windows" On the 11th of May, 1863, Gov Vance issued a proclamation against deserters from the Rebel armies, and against the Union men of North Carolina who harbored them and assisted them to escape In the proclamation he said

"The father or the mother who does it [discourages a member of his family from enlisting] should be shot instead of his deluded victim for he deliberately destroys the soul and manhood of his own flesh and blood And the same is done by him who harbors and conceals the deserter What honest man will ever wish to permit his own brave sons or patriotic daughters who bore their parts with credit in this great struggle for independence, to associate even to its third or fourth generation, with the vile wretch who skulked in the woods or the still viler coward who aided him, while his bleeding country was calling in vain for his help?"

To the Union men of the State he said

"If permitted to live in the State at all after the close of the war you will be infamous You will be hustled from the polls, and insulted in the streets A jury of your countrymen will not believe you on oath, and honest men everywhere will shun you as a pestilence

Shortly after the surrender of Lee ex Governor Vance said, in a speech at Greensboro, North Carolina

"We have failed this time—there can be no doubt about that—but the time is yet coming that the principles for which we fought will succeed I may not live to see it but certainly my children will, and, if I live to be an old man, I shall see it also"

In a speech delivered on the 7th of February 1868 he said that when his party should get possession of the State the condition of the Republicans would be worse than that of the people of Sodom and Gomorrah He was ready to fight and die for the men of North Carolina There can be no doubt that Mr Vance s application for admission will cause a warm debate, during which his whole record will be brought out, and that this will be made a test case

The President s Message

The New York Herald discusses some of the points of the President's message, as follows,

Upon the new party cry of the "revenue reform" General Grant comes so refreshingly to the point and the purpose that he cannot fail to challenge the special attention of all parties His Message in fact is a declaration of war against these would be soi disant "revenue reformers." He gives to the New York Evening Post, the Chicago Tribune, Carl Schurz and Gratz Brown, and their republican followers the choice between the democratic party and the third party inasmuch as their peculiar revenue reform notions are not the notions of Grant s administration He moves here upon the enemy s works and the movement looks like the advance upon Fort Donelson It brings the issue into close quarters and knocks these new fangled catch words and claptrap of "revenue reform" into a cocked hat So broad, practical and liberal, too, is the system of revenue reform suggested by the President that it only the extremists at both ends can reasonably object to it

The Message gives a hopeful view of the new humanitarian policy adopted towards the Indians, and submits that in its appropriations of the public domain to railway corporations Congress has been driving the engine too fast, and should slacken steam and apply the brakes, and so say the people The liberal system in force of land grants to pioneer settlers, and for educational purposes works admirably in the development of new States and Territories and ought to be continued The census, we are assured will furnish in all the departments of industry a flattering exhibit of the country s prosperity in spite of the desolations of our late war Finally, the Message sums up the policy of the administration to be the enforcement of the laws economy, retrenchment, the payment of the national debt, a wise reduction of taxes, honest and fair dealings with all other people, reform in our treatment of the Indians and in our whole civil service, an honest ballot and no repeating, and no violence or proscription on account of party, nativity or color

Such is the annual Message of General Grant It is a good State paper and a staunch party platform Our only fears are that General Grant is too old in the honesty of the soldier, too new in the ways of the politician, too much disposed to rest from his great labors of the war and too amiable by half to carry out his party programme after the trenchant fashion of Old Hickory But Queen Victoria gets on very well, though she hardly troubles herself with State affairs She leaves them to her Cabinet, and her Cabinet to the Parliament, so General Grant, in leaving his general policy to his Cabinet, and his Cabinet to the supervision of his party in Congress, may prosper and enjoy himself at the same time He knew where to look for a good general better than he knows where to look for a good secretary, and here he may wisely rely upon older professional experience than his own To be a good politician statesman or shoemaker, you must, learn the trade But this Message indicates the turning over a new leaf by General Grant as the head of his party that he has been learning the trade, and it may be that he will yet astonish his limping supporters on his strategy and tactics action and activity as master of the political field We think he has fairly knocked away the underpinning of the "revenue reform

The great Mont Cenis tunnel, uniting Italy and France, is to be completed this month It was commenced in 1857 but not much progress was made till after the introduction of the compressed air drills, in 1861 The drills have averaged nine feet per day The whole length of the tunnel is seven and four fifths miles, and the cost is estimated at thirty two millions of dollars It is called the Mount Cenis tunnel, because that is the only mountain of note near it, but it does not run nearer than eighteen miles distant from that mountain The mountains under which it actually passes are not worth naming It is the greatest engineering achievement of the kind yet achieved and distinguished civil engineers from all countries will be present at the opening—the exact date of which is not yet announced

Just as a traveler was writing his name on the register of a Leavenworth hotel a bedbug sallied out and took its way across the page The man paused and remarked "I've been bled by St Joe fleas bitten by Kansas City spiders and interviewed by Fort Scott graybacks but was never in a place before where the bedbugs looked over the hotel register to find out where your room was!"

FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 23, 1870.

General Opinion of the President's Message.

The general expression in regard to the President's Message shows that the document was received with favor and satisfaction, and that even Democrats could find in it little to assail. A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from Washington, says that the message gives almost universal satisfaction to Republicans and commands qualified approval even from the opponents of the Administration. The recommendations in regard to the treatment of the pending questions which affect our relations with Great Britain were heartily approved, and commended as being dignified and firm, without being belligerent. The adherence to the acquisition of San Domingo was expected, though it was hardly expected that the President would present the case so forcibly. This part of the Message produced a strong impression, and now that the President proposes that Congress shall make the treaty, the chief objections to the rejected treaty are removed. The remarks of the President on revenue reform commanded the close attention of the House, and the allusions to the possible platform of the "revenue reformers" created much merriment. The policy of the Administration epitomized in the half dozen closing lines rang out like an echo, and was received with a burst of applause. On the whole, it is voted at Washington, a very sensible, honest, manly Message, which will give the people general satisfaction.

The Times editorially says the Message "is the best answer to those who insist that the mission of the Republican party is ended, or who impugn Gen. Grant's fitness for interpreting the wishes and promoting the interests of the people. The policy set forth is at once positive and practical. In domestic affairs it provides for the enforcement of the laws, the maintenance of the public credit, the faithful collection of revenue, and the economical administration of the Government, a reduction of taxation and a revision of the tariff, reform in the civil service and in the management of Indians, provision for regaining a just share of the carrying trade, and the securing to every community a pure, untrammeled ballot. In relation to foreign affairs, it inculcates fair and honest dealing and the encouragement of peace, but without surrendering any right, or compromising any obligation due to this country."

Death of Judge Olney.

We are called upon to announce the death of Judge Cyrus Olney, who expired at Astoria on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. His remains were interred at that place on Thursday afternoon.

There are few people in Oregon, especially of the old settlers, who did not know Judge Olney, and all who knew him will receive the announcement of his death with sincere regret. His death, however, was not unexpected, since he had been in feeble health for some years. More especially during the last two years he had failed rapidly, and for some months before his death an attack of paralysis had almost completely prostrated him.

Judge Olney was a native of Ohio. He grew to manhood in that State, received his education there, studied law at Cincinnati and was admitted to the bar. He began the practice of his profession in Ohio and his name appears as an advocate in cases in the Ohio Reports. From that State he removed to Iowa, at what time we are not precisely informed. He was for four years a Circuit Court Judge in Iowa. In [illegible] he came to Oregon. He stopped first at Salem and engaged in projects of different sorts and during the next year or two was about Portland a good deal, where he acquired some property. In 1853 he was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court of Oregon, his colleagues on the bench being Judge Deady and Senator Williams. He held this office till 1857 when he resigned and Judge Boise took his place. Sometime before this he had removed to Clatsop county. He was a member of the Convention which framed the Constitution of the State and did valuable service in that body. After resigning his position on the bench in 1857 he went to the Sandwich Islands, with an intention of remaining there, but after a brief residence returned, since which time he resided at Astoria. He was a member of the Legislature in 1866, and was again elected to that body last June. Though in very feeble health he was present during the whole of the session last fall and participated actively in the deliberations.

His efforts for several years have been devoted in large part to the interests of Astoria. He has accomplished much for that place, and there his loss will be deeply felt.

He was twice married and had seven children, but none of his family survive him.

Judge Olney was a ready man, of active mind, quick perception, full of suggestion, and fertile in expedients. He had a faculty of talking in such a way as to draw out of a subject everything there was in it, and of enabling those who followed him to look at it from every point of view. He has been a useful man to Oregon, and death, in taking him away, deprives the State of one who has been prominent among us for the space of twenty years.

Of course Messrs. Burnett, Wells and other first rate Democrats who made so good a thing in the last Legislature will be extremely anxious to get back next session. Many of their brethren who have learned from them where fat things are to be obtained will be anxious to get there too. There will be a Senator to elect next time, and if the Democrats have a majority in the Legislature, it will cost the man who wins the prize a round sum of money. The purchasable class will all know next time how and where it is to be had. Somebody will have to shell out more cash than was disbursed last session by our worthy Senator elect, Col. Kelly, and his friends. By the way, will Col. Kelly be good enough to inform the public who furnished the money that bought the necessary votes for him, and who that "wealthy man" is in this city who "backed" him and furnished the cash for that last payment of $3,000 that honest Jack Burnett came down here and got after the close of the session?

Now let Councilman Hallock catch it. Let the organ "go for" him. Pounce upon him. Taboo him. Read him out of the party. For has he not offended beyond reparation by introducing in the Common Council an ordinance to grant aid to the amount of $100,000 for a railroad? What can this mean but the $100,000 asked for by Holladay? Holladay's proposition for a subsidy to that amount is before the citizens of Portland, and there is a most significant coincidence between this and Mr. Hallock's ordinance. The ordinance follows the proposition so naturally as to make the two look like two halves of the same scheme. Now we await the thunders of the Herald. Of course Hallock will at once be read out of Democratic fellowship for joining the "Holladayites," and held up as an awful and instructive example for the faithful to avoid. He will be pointed at as a warning to all good Democrats, and will be classed with Hendershott, Fay, Trevitt, Haydon and others of that sort. The Herald should have him dismissed from the Police Commission at once. That a man who would propose the ordinance which Hallock has introduced should remain an officeholder under Democratic regime is indeed "most tolerable and not to be endured." We shall expect the organ in its very next issue to souse down upon him.

Passing by the residence of a noted but rather unsuccessful Democratic politician in this city, a day or two ago, we noticed that the said politician, who has vainly tried in times past to use the Chinaman to get into office, has begun to take a more sensible view of things and is now using the Chinaman to some purpose in getting in his winter's wood.

OREGON.

Skating is the principal occupation at Salem.

A two story building, 25 by 40 feet, is being erected by the Odd Fellows at Lafayette.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: W. C. Myer, of Ashland, arrived at home, from the East, with a lot of fine stock in good condition, last week.

The State Library at Salem, with the Adjutant General's office, has been moved from the old quarters to what is known as Smith's block.

A correspondent writes from Lafayette that the temperance cause is "looking up" in that vicinity. Dr. Merrick, Grand Lecturer, spoke there last Friday evening, and after his lecture twenty-six at once joined the Good Templars' organization. Dr. Merrick is described as a forcible lecturer.

WASHINGTON FACT AND GOSSIP.

Gen. Pleasanton has been appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue. An excellent appointment.

On the 5th inst. Senator Corbett introduced a resolution in the Senate asking information as to the probable cost of the improvement of Umpqua and Wallamet rivers—the latter above Oregon City. Surveys and estimates for this purpose were made last summer.

Some time ago Jay Cooke was "taken in" with a lot of counterfeit bonds. Twenty thousand dollars worth were sent to the Treasury and redeemed. When their character was discovered Jay Cooke refused to make the sum good. The Government sued him for the amount and has just obtained judgment.

The Secretary of the Interior has declined to grant the request of Mayor Hall, of New York, that in retaking the census of that city each Deputy Marshal may be accompanied by a uniformed policeman. The Secretary says it would be a direct violation of law. None but Federal agents can be employed.

The President's Message, containing 9,085 words, was sent to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York over ten wires of the Western Union Company, in actual time employed thirty-seven and one-half minutes, or at the average rate of twenty-five words per minute on each wire, including all "breaks" or incidental delays.

A Washington paper, referring to the President's Message, says: It is when the President grapples with that stupendous fraud, "Revenue Reform," that he shows the true spirit and discloses the best insight into our domestic needs and condition. Revenue reform is simply the substitution of the internal taxes for the tariff on foreign products, which protects our home industry.

Gov. Fairchilds and Gen. Sam. Harriman, of Wisconsin, and the State Auditor, of Minnesota, and ex-Senator Henry M. Rice, are at Washington, for the purpose of obtaining a land grant in favor of the Bayfield and St. Croix railroad, in the upper part of Wisconsin, of which Jay Cooke is President. The grant was originally made ten years ago, but has lapsed on account of the incorporators having failed to commence work on it. As it was favorably reported on at the last session, it will come up for consideration among the first bills on the docket.

The Secretary of the Navy reports the whole number of vessels now on the Register as 181, calculated to carry 1,390 guns. Of these vessels 52 are monitors, 30 sailing craft, and the rest steamers. Forty-five vessels, mounting 465 guns, are attached to the several fleets, and four others, mounting seven guns, are in commission for special service. These, with six receiving ships at the various stations, and the tugs and small vessels on duty at the navy yards, make up the naval force now in commission. Ten others, with 143 guns, are ready for sea, and only await their complement of men to join the several fleets. The rest of the names borne on the lists represent vessels in construction or repair, or those entirely unseaworthy.

CURRENT NOTES.

For the year ending July, 1872, the cost of the army will be about $885,000 less than the last appropriation, and by next July the reduction of the force to the regular peace establishment of 30,000 men will be complete.

A man who was recently put into Somerville county jail, Maine, not liking his quarters, took out one of the blocks of stone from the wall and was found at work upon it. On inquiry he said that he was cold, and was trying to fix the stone so that it would fit more tightly in the hole so he could keep warm.

Consul Perry, at Panama, recently received a call from an Indian chief, who informed him of the existence of a hitherto unknown opening through the mountains, which can be made available for a ship canal. Learned men have long been of the opinion that the Indians know of an easy route across the Isthmus of Darien, and that belief seems now to have confirmation.

A leading English paper after having bestowed its praises on Mr. Mill and Mr. Froude, says: It is evident that English opinion has come to look upon the Crimean war as a mistake, and that it accepts only with impatience and apprehension the obligations contracted in 1856. The honorable retreat which Mr. Froude counsels to the Cabinet may be operated without shock and without recrimination, and in a manner to maintain the legitimate influence which Great Britain is called to exercise on the Asiatic continent.

Representative Witcher of West Virginia, who was defeated for re-election by a Democrat, says that it was hostility to negro suffrage that lost the State to the Republicans. The people are mainly of old Virginia extraction, and are so isolated from the rest of the country among the mountains that progress in public opinion is very slow, and the State is far behind most of the Southern States on the suffrage question. He says that the disqualified rebels voted en masse without restraint, and that one-third of the negro vote was secured by the Democrats.

As far as known in Washington there will be but very few cases of contested elections brought before the House in the next Congress. No more than ten districts have been heard from where contests have been spoken of as possible, while the number, at present appearances, likely to arise, is only four or five. In the present term more than thirty seats have had rival claimants, which, besides furnishing an enormous amount of labor to the Committee on Elections, and consuming, all told, more than a month's time of the House, cost the Treasury directly more than $100,000.

The Philadelphia Press publishes the official returns of the census marshals of the Eastern and Western Districts of Pennsylvania. The figures are as follows:

	1870.	1860.
Eastern District	1,778,540	1,553,076
Western District	1,713,957	1,353,039
Total	3,492,503	2,906,115
Increase, 586,388.

The Western District increased 360,918, or 26.68 per cent.; the Eastern 225,470, or 14.52 per cent. The average increase per cent. is 20.18.

"The Most Murderous Machine."

The Gaulois, of Paris, lately published a paragraph stating that, "The man who shall invent the most murderous machine, and the one easiest to use and handle, shall receive from the French nation a prize of 500,000 francs." This offers recalls to mind a passage in Lord Buchan's life of Napier, the inventor of logarithms, born in 1550, died in 1617. In a note Lord Buchan quotes from St. Thomas Urquhart's Tracts (Edinburg, 1774), who states that Napier had "an almost incomprehensible device, which, being in the mouths of the most of Scotland, and yet unknown to any that was ever in the world except himself, deserveth very well to be taken notice of in this place, and it is this: He had the skill, as is commonly reported, to frame an engine which, by virtue of some secret springs or inward resorts, with other implements and materials fit for the purpose, inclosed within the bowels thereof, had the power (if proportionable in bulk to the action required of it—for he could make it of all sizes) to clear a field of four miles circumference of all the living creatures exceeding a foot in hight that should be found thereon, how near soever they might be found to one another; by which means he made it to appear that he was able, with the help of this machine alone, to kill 30,000 Turks without the hazard of one Christian!"

Of this, it is said (continues his lordship), that on a wager he gave proof upon a large plain Scotland, to the destruction of a great many head of cattle and flocks of sheep, whereof some were distant from others half a mile on all sides, and some a whole mile. (But) "when he was most earnestly desired by an old acquaintance and professed friend of his, even about the time of his contracting the disease whereof he died, that he would be pleased, for the honor of his family and his own everlasting memory to posterity, to reveal unto him the manner of the contrivance of so ingenious a mystery, subjoining thereto for the better persuading him, that it were a thousand pities that so excellent an invention should be buried with him in the grave, and that after his decease nothing should be known thereof—his answer was, that for the ruin and overthrow of man there were too many devices already framed, which if he could make to be fewer he would with all his might endeavor to do; and that, therefore, seeing the malice and rancor rooted in the heart of mankind will not suffer them to diminish the number of them, by any new concert of his they should never be increased." "Divinely spoken, truly," adds his lordship, and divinely say we. Yet this was precisely the sort of machine, "the most murderous and most easily handled," at present in request in Paris.

INDIA-RUBBER.—Considering the many uses to which India-rubber is now applied, one of the most important being its recognized superiority over gutta-percha for deep-sea telegraphs, and remembering the fears entertained some time back of the probability of a decrease in the supply, owing to the exhaustion of the forests consequent upon the immense demand, it is gratifying to learn that the quantity of rubber exported from Para during the past year exceeded that of the previous year by 22,731 arrobas, (an arroba is equal to about twenty-five and one-half pounds), and by £241,250 in market value. It is true that the more accessible rubber districts are becoming exhausted, and give a smaller yield than in former years, but the rubber-bearing country is so extensive, and its rivers so incompletely explored, that the newly-discovered sources will, no doubt, more than make up any deficiency arising from the exhaustion of the old. It is difficult, however, to obtain accurate or reliable information from those engaged in the collecting of the rubber. The continued demand for rubber, which is collected with comparatively little labor, and requires but little skill and experience, absorbs all the attention of the natives over other products, and the constant rise in its value so stimulates its production, that it is more than probable there will be for some years to come an annual increase in the quantity imported of at least ten per cent.—Nature.

Senator McCreery, of Kentucky, on the 13th inst. introduced a resolution looking to the restoration of the Arlington property to the Lee family. During the discussion of the resolution in the Senate the scene was very impressive. Finally, it appearing that the Democratic Senators were to be held responsible for the spirit manifested in the resolution, Mr. McCreery asked leave to withdraw it; but the Senate refused his request, and then by the very decided vote of four ayes to fifty-four noes refused to receive or retain the resolution. The galleries were crowded with people listening with breathless interest to numerous speeches intense in invective against all connected with the late rebellion.

The Patrie, a French journal, states that a foreign diplomat having remarked, in conversation with Bismarck, that the latter should be careful not to irritate Europe, Bismarck responded disdainfully: "Europe! Europe; There is no longer a Europe—there is only Prussia!" This seems to us, at this distance, something like an exaggeration.

The Alta says it is informed by private letter that President Grant intends to visit California in the spring, after the adjournment of Congress.

CITY.

A METROPOLITAN ESTABLISHMENT.—The character of buildings erected during the last season evince more distinctly than anything else the growth of our city into metropolitan proportions. We might point to numerous establishments now in full operation in Portland, which would compare respectably with similar ones in almost any American city of five or ten times our population, but we propose now only to speak of one or two, the mammoth establishments of Messrs. Corbett & Macleay, grocers, and Knapp, Burrell & Co., agricultural machinery, implements [illegible] these firms occupy the immense [illegible] new brick block. They [illegible] on the ground floor a room fifty feet wide [illegible] extending entirely through from Front to [illegible] streets; and each have [illegible] and a cellar of the same dimensions, fifty by two hundred feet. The stores [illegible] almost unlimited capacity for the storage of goods. The firm of Corbett [illegible] [illegible]

PRIZE ESSAYS.—The [illegible] over the signature of C. [illegible] these prizes for a series of [illegible] temperance to be published in the temperance organ. The best series is to win a [illegible] [illegible], or, at the option of the winner, the same value in temperance books; the second a [illegible] regalia worth $12; and the third, a [illegible] Templar's gold badge, or scarf pin.

RAILROAD COMMISSARY SUPPLIES.—We found one of our principal grocery firms hard at work yesterday, filling a large order for the N. P. R. R. Co., at Monticello. The supplies, consisting of provisions and groceries for the camps of the railroad company's employees, were taken by the Geo. S. Wright, last evening.

FROM THE LOWER COLUMBIA.—The steamer Okanogan succeeded in getting up yesterday from Astoria, via the Wallamet Slough. At St. Helens the Columbia was very full of ice, and for most of the width of the river it is stationary. It is understood the Okanogan will attempt another trip down to-day.

CHRISTMAS RE-UNION AND LEVEE.—The teachers and students of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary will hold a Levee and Re-union at the Academy Chapel this (Friday) evening. All former teachers and scholars of the Institution are cordially invited.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES.—We will take it as a favor if the pastors of the several churches will, during to-day, give us notice of their hours for divine services or other exercises, for Christmas or Christmas eve, for publication to-morrow morning.

FOR CHRISTMAS DINNERS.—Mr. James Quinn advertises the fattest and best turkeys, and game in the market, for Christmas dinners. He also offers a tempting reward for a twenty-one pound live turkey. Come on, gentlemen, with your [illegible] birds.

FOR SITKA.—The propeller Geo. S. Wright sailed last evening for Sitka and way ports. She took away but little freight for ports outside and no passengers.

Metropolitan Establishment.—The character of buildings erected during the last season or [illegible] marks more distinctly than anything else the growth of our city into metropolitan proportions. [illegible] right point to numerous establishments now in operation in Portland, which would compare respectably with similar ones in almost any American city of five or ten times our population; we propose now only to speak of one or two—mammoth establishments of Messrs. They each have on the ground floor a room fifty feet wide, extending entirely through from Front to First streets; and each have an upper story and a cellar of the same dimensions—fifty by two hundred feet. The stories are very tall and afford almost unlimited capacity for the storage of goods. The firm of Corbitt & Macleay have just completed their removal into their very commodious rooms, and they now have stored together upon three floors, the stocks which they lately held in several warehouses of the ordinary dimensions. Their counting room is large, with a very airy and pleasant appearance. They have a railway extending from the front to the rear, having cars capable of trundling several tons at a load, which can be easily moved by the strength of one man. At the rear and near the First street terminus of the track, they have an elevator by which one man can hoist or lower several tons at once to either of the floors. On either side of the railway, they have their stocks of goods piled in long rows, broken at convenient intervals by alleys which serve the double purpose of separating the various sorts of goods, and of making ways for hand trucks. Altogether, the establishment is, in its proportions equal, if not superior to anything of the kind in San Francisco. The warerooms of Knapp, Burrell & Co. are equally huge in proportions, and are filled with the stocks which recently required [illegible] of the ordinary size, besides [illegible] of room under the various wharf [illegible]

Holladay's Addition to East Portland.—The map of Halladay's Addition to East Portland was filed in the Clerk's office on the 17th and recorded yesterday. It lies adjoining the plats of East Portland and Wheeler's [illegible], being a part of the Wheeler claim. [illegible] with three or four exceptions, are 60 [illegible] Holladay avenue is 80 feet wide, and [illegible] streets, being prolongation of streets [illegible] 's Addition, are only fifty feet wide. The blocks are numbered from 23 to [illegible] a tier of fractional lettered blocks on [illegible] side, each whole block containing eight [illegible] in the plat of East Portland. [illegible], situate about Eleventh street, and in [illegible] of the plat, contains four entire [illegible]

[illegible] Prosecutions.—John Milliken got [illegible] other night and sloshed around town. [illegible] morning he found himself out of pocket [illegible] one or two or three hundred dollars, and [illegible] that he had been robbed. He caused [illegible] of two men upon the charge of robbery, [illegible]rianagh and J. P. Hamilton—and the [illegible] of the charges has occupied the attention of the Police Court for a couple of days. [illegible] were finally discharged, there [illegible] evidence to connect them with the loss [illegible] money. Judge Lewis, in dismissing the [illegible] Hamilton, said that the proofs did not establish the fact that a robbery [illegible] committed at all. The complaining [illegible] shows that he was drunk and had [illegible], so there was no conclusive evidence of the manner of its loss.

[illegible] Cutters.—Having exhausted the ice [illegible] lake beyond Couch's Lake, the [illegible] began to cut yesterday at the lower [illegible] latter. They have now procured one [illegible] ice cutters, by which they are able [illegible] with a large force of laborers. Two [illegible] horses operate the machine, which [illegible] slabs as fast as a horse can walk. [illegible] and cut the slabs in two, and a [illegible] of the fork men are kept going at a [illegible] to push the pieces ashore. The ice is [illegible] inches thick. The operations of the ice [illegible] going to seriously abridge the area [illegible] for skating purposes.

[illegible] for The Dalles.—Mr. Underwood [illegible] arrangements yesterday, for the transportation of mails by land, between this city and [illegible], during the interruption to navigation. [illegible] start from this city to-morrow (Satur[illegible]), which, it is expected, will reach [illegible] Sunday night, and returning, will [illegible] Monday morning and arrive at Portland [illegible] night. This mail will consist of all [illegible] way letters, the paper mail being too [illegible] for transportation on horseback.

The question of subscribing the sub[illegible] $[illegible],000 in aid of the railroad for the [illegible] will be presented for discussion pro or [illegible] as may suit those who attend. Let everybody [illegible] out, and if any man has objections to [illegible] say so. The friends of the proposition will be there, and their reasons for supporting it be given.

Essays.—The Good Templar contains [illegible] of C. Beal, an offer to give [illegible] for a series of essays on temperance, [illegible] in the temperance organ. The [illegible] is to win a R. W. G. L. regalia worth [illegible] at the option of the winner, the same [illegible] temperance books; the second a G. L. [illegible] worth $12; and the third, a Good Templar's badge, or scarf pin.

[illegible] Commissary Supplies.—We found [illegible] principal grocery firms hard at work [illegible], filling a large order for the N. P. R. [illegible] Monticello. The supplies, consisting of [illegible] and groceries for the camps of the railroad company's employees, were taken by the [illegible] Wright, last evening.

The Lower Columbia.—The steamer [illegible] in getting up yesterday from [illegible] the Wallamet Slough. At St. Helens the Columbia was very full of ice, and for [illegible] the width of the river it is stationary. [illegible] the Okanagan will attempt another trip to-day.

AMUSEMENTS.

Oro Fino Theatre.—The people who attended the performance of Richelieu last evening, enjoyed a genuine dramatic treat. The character of the great Cardinal was portrayed by Mr. Bates with very happy effect, showing that he had carefully studied the peculiarities of the man who at one period was the brain and soul of France. Mrs. Bates was more than usually naive and charming as Julie de Mortemar; and all or nearly all the other characters were both well dressed and acted. To-night, the beautiful, spectacular and sensational drama of the "Secret of a Life," will be presented again. The Theater has lately been so arranged in regard of heating appliances as to be quite a pleasant place to spend an evening.

Holladay's Addition to East Portland, recorded on page 302 and 303 book "M," record of deeds and transactions in real estate, together with diagram map or plat thereof attached.

Temperance Lectures.—Mr. C. Beal, G. W. C. T. of the Good Templars, has made the following appointments to lecture on temperance: At Hope Lodge, January 2d; Newellsville, 3d; Fairfield, 4th; St. Louis, 5th; Buena Vista, 7th; King's Valley, 9th; Philomath, 11th; Safety Lodge, 12th; Monroe, 13th; Corvallis, 18th. He will organize a county lodge at Corvallis, January 19th.

Dr. M. D. Merrick, State Lecturer, will lecture on temperance as follows: Waconda, January 2d; Sublimity, 3d; Aumsville, 4th; Jefferson, 5th; Scio, 6th; Lebanon, 9th; Wheeler's schoolhouse, 10th; Brownsville, 11th; Crawfordsville, 12th; Harrisburg, 13th; Peoria, 15th; McFarland's schoolhouse, 17th; Albany, 25th. He will organize a county lodge at Albany, on the 26th.

The meetings for both speakers will be held at 6½ o'clock P. M., except Sundays, when they will be held at 3 P. M.

Where the Railroad Comes In.—There are now three large vessels actively loading grain at this port. Should the river close with ice as now seems quite probable, the river boats will be laid up, but the loading of the vessels need not be suspended at all, for the railroad can bring the grain forward as fast as it can be stored away. We are likely to see the prime value to the country of having railroad transportation, much sooner than had been anticipated. During the freeze, the vessels can load as though there were no interruption to navigation, and when the thaw shall come they will be ready to go out at once.

The Total Right, but Items Wrong.—In our notice of "Palace and Hovel," yesterday morning, the compositor made two errors in figures—the number of pages of the book should have been 650 instead of 750, and the illustrations should have been stated at 200 instead of 100. The total was right, but the printer robbed the engravings of 100 and gave it to the pages.

During a late sortie of the French from Paris, a trumpeter of the 10th battalion of Bavarian Jagers managed to cross unobserved into a covered arbor, on the flank of the advancing columns of the French, and at the first check which their onset received from the Germans he boldly sounded the French signal for retreat, loud and long, which being taken up by the enemy's trumpeters soon caused a general and hasty retrograde movement of the French towards Paris. The staff trumpeter of the Bavarians had picked up, during a previous battle, one of the signal-books used by French trumpeters, and had taught his subordinates this useful little air, to be used in engagements.

It has been observed in the French hospitals at Orleans that the wounded of the Germans are chiefly injured by pieces of shell—there being but comparatively few bullet wounds—but that the French have been wounded chiefly by the needle gun. The inference is obvious that the French fired wildly, too fast, and without aiming, and perhaps at too great a distance. The Chassepot is a bad weapon for recruits, and especially for young French recruits, impetuous and difficult to control.

The people are all looking about for something extra nice for holiday dinners (and everybody has a holiday dinner). Q. M. Martin is the man of the time, and is fully prepared for the emergency. For proof consult his splendid stock of Family Groceries, Fresh Vegetables, Butter and Eggs, Salt Fish, Chinook Salmon Bellies, Halibut Fins, Game of every description, all the Fruits of the season, Honey, and Nick-nacks too numerous to mention.

Gallant gentlemen, come up to the notch
And buy your ladies a nice gold watch—
Young men, come and buy for the pretty girls
A bracelet or "set" or a ring with pearls;
For Stone has them to sell, and not to keep,
And offers them to you wonderful cheap.

Open in the Evening.—To accommodate our city retail trade, we will keep open until 9 o'clock during the present week.
W. JACKSON & CO.
Portland, December 20, 1870.

Why is it that Kohn & Fishel keep the largest supply of Clothing in this city?
Because their sales require it.
Why can they afford to sell cheaper than any other house?
Because they buy in large quantities and get them cheaper, and because they are satisfied with small profits and quick returns, which system has brought them an enormous trade, and made them first in their business in the city.

December is here, with her storms and her rain,
And it makes the folks of cold weather complain.
Hark ye, dear gentlemen, this need not be so,
You can all be kept warm, for O'NEIL & CO.
Can fit you so nicely, so snug and so warm,
With CLOTHES that are proof 'gainst the bitterest storm,
And they sell them so cheaply, that all who go there,
Unlike Flora McFlimsey, can find something to wear.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver or "Biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery. It also cures the worst lingering Coughs, at the same time strengthening and purifying the whole system. Remember that Dr. Pierce's private U. S. Government Revenue Stamp, bearing upon it his portrait, name and address, is upon every bottle of the Genuine. Sold by druggists.

AND MACHINES,

RUBBER AND LEATHER BELTING, FARM WAGONS, GRASS SEEDS, ETC., ETC.

The particular attention of the Farming Community is called to our recent importation of Improved MOLINE PLOWS, greatly superior to any other Moline Plow in the Market, notwithstanding a certain firm, somewhat noted for truth and veracity—"so-called"—persist in a-raming that they are "bogus," "California made," etc.

Don't fail to call and look at one of the MOLINE PLOW Co's LATEST MAKE; and we think you will coincide with a Yamhill Farmer; who, after "looking 'round" and hearing the old story about bogus Molines, etc., delivered himself thusly: "Well, Myers, I'll just chance a couple of those new plows, and if they are 'bogus,' as that gassy chap above here says, I'll be d—armed if I won't take bogus in mine every time."

Next month we expect another shipment of those justly celebrated BAIN WAGONS, (Have now only a few left of the last lot,) STILL FURTHER IMPROVED over all heretofore received. It is not presumption on our part to say that they are head and shoulders above any other Farm wagon in market, in point of material, workmanship and finish, having achieved a reputation throughout the West, and wherever introduced on the Pacific, second to no other wagon. Some of the first sold here—three years ago,—have never yet had a tire re-set, and our experience has enabled us to order many changes and improvements over the ordinary make of western wagons to meet the wants and requirements of this coast. We shall sell the BAIN WAGON at the lowest possible price for a first-class wagon, and WARRANT them such, and in this connection beg to caution purchasers not to confound them with "inferior makes" that others are, or may endeavor to sell on the strength of the established reputation of the Bain manufacture, particularly after having made repeated and persistent efforts (without avail) to purchase wagons of Mr. Bain for this market.

Lighthouse at Cape Blanco

C I W amson Lighthouse Eng neer pul lishes the following

Notice is hereby given that a fixed white light of the fourth order of the system of Fresnel will be exhibited for the first time on the evening of December 20th 1870 and on every evening thereafter from sunset to sunrise from the tower recently erected on Cape Blanco Oregon The tower is 50 feet in height from base to focal plane, built of brick, painted white, and situated about 200 yards from the western extremity of the Cape The dome of the lantern is painted red the other parts of it white

The light is elevated 25 feet above the mean level of the sea, illuminating an arc of 24 ° of the horizon and should be seen in ordinary states of the atmosphere, from the deck of a vessel 1 feet above he water at the distance of 22 nautical miles The keeper's dwelling is a two story building painted white with green blinds and placed about 100 feet to the south of the tower

The geographical position of the lighthouse as shown by the United States Coast Survey Chart is latitude 42 deg 50 min 07 1 sec North, longitude 124 deg 32 min 28 6 sec West

The magnetic variation, in November 1870, was 18 deg 51 min East increasing 1 min yearly

From the lighthouse a tangent to the seaward shore of Port Orford Head, is in the direction of S 42 deg E, magnetic and this line limits the visibility in that direction The angle of visibility over the water is 240 deg

The following are the magnetic bearings from the tower to prominent points viz Cape Mendocino lighthouse S 21 deg E, or S by E ¾ E, distant 145 miles Klooqeh Rock, off Point Orford Head, S 38 deg E, or S E, ⅞ S distant 6 miles Cape Arago (Gregory) lighthouse, N 7 deg E, or N ½ E, distant 31 miles Cape Disappointment (Hancock) lighthouse, N 15 deg W, or N by W ¼ W distant 207 miles

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

PORTLAND, Thursday Dec 22 1870

The price of gold at New York has not been telegraphed for three or four days. The latest quotation was 110⅛

The San Francisco price of legal tenders is from 90½ to 90¾.

Portland legal tender rates are 90c buying and 91c selling

Exchange on San Francisco—coin ¼ of 1 per cent currency ¼ of one per cent

Exchange on New York, 1½ per cent telegraph transfers 1½ per cent.

Rates of interest at the banks 1 per cent, outside rates [illegible]@2 per cent

[illegible] Bounty and Relief bonds, 85a87½c State [illegible] 97c@par

Money is in fair supply for all legitimate business wants There is an increased demand for real estate in [illegible] otherwise there is no pressure upon the market The supply of treasure from the mines has entirely ceased with the close of navigation on the Columbia but as the shipment of produce is also about suspended there will be less occasion than usual for the use of money and no embarrassment will result

The only notable feature in the merchandise market otherwise than observable in the usual routine of business, is the corner in kerosene oils which have advanced fully fifty per cent since our last week's review of the markets. Advices from San Francisco represent that kerosene is scarce in that market, and that the stocks on hand have advanced in proportion to the rise here. It can hardly be concluded, however, that the corner was the result altogether of scarcity of the article. It is probable that the stocks have fallen into the hands of a ring, who are speculating heavily A number of firms here sold unsuspectingly at the old rates to parties who had obtained first news of the ring movement at San Francisco and thus considerable excitement prevailed for a day or two

A fair jobbing trade has ruled during the week in dry goods, groceries and hardware. Other wholesale lines have had a rather dull week

The produce market presents no new features worthy of special remark Grain is still in good demand and prices [illegible] up. Good white wheat is wanted at $1 05 for strictly shipping grades. Oats are a little higher also.

Provisions [illegible] in consequence of the freeze-up are 1½c higher, with a prospect for greater [illegible] and high prices Butter is scarce and advancing Eggs are 5c higher with a rapidly decreasing supply

Retail trade, especially in holiday goods, has been very lively and continues good

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearny street corner of Commercial San Francisco where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society loss of memory, hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of those fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and willing to furnish patients a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating, case symptoms length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions By including Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co. a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union

All communications strictly confidential

Address DR J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco Post Office Box 1,957

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1 957 ON THE LETTER.
